Church Library Update

First, Angela Hall has stepped down as the church librarian. Thank you, Angela, for a wonderful job over the past few years. You saw the need and have given sacrificially of your time and energy to keep this ministry going. Secondly, Nancy and Mike Muro will be assuming the role as church librarians. Please be praying for them as they begin to assess the library and its role at Grace Missionary Church.

Thirdly, this ministry is going to be taking a sabbatical for at least the next month or two. There are changes coming, and the next month or so will be needed to implement those changes. Much of the library's collection, items that have not left the shelves for years will be removed, outdated materials and books will either find a new home or be gotten rid of to make room for a newer streamlined library. If you are wanting any of those materials or books, please let the Muros know. Also, the library is no longer accepting book donations.

Lastly, if you have any recommendations for books or authors, please give that information to Nancy and Mike. This is your library and they need to know how best to serve all of Grace. Please be patient. Lord willing, it will be worth the wait.
