A Note from Wendy Meyer:

Hi, Everybody! We have not “left” 😊. Ben has been given more days and hours to work at Wendy’s. Good news. The Bad news – he works so late on Saturday that we can not make it to church 😞.

Maybe things will “shake out” this summer, hour wise, we miss one and all! Wendy & Ben.

A Note from Pastor Carlson

Dear Church family,
Thank you for your kind and gracious words during these past difficult weeks in my life. We had no idea when we took the hastily-planned trip to upstate New York last fall to see my parents, that we would lose both of them before dad's birthday six months later. Three times we have traveled to my hometown out east since February 2018, once to say “goodbye” to mom, and then twice for memorial services when they both passed, scant weeks apart. Though my heart is broken, I know that God makes no mistakes and I am confidently and joyously resting in His sovereign love and care. As I'm sure you know, I hate being away from the pulpit, and I have been absent more this year than at any other time in my 39 year pastoral ministry. Thank you, Church, for the grace of absence that allowed me to be with my family and give my final tribute to my folks' legacy. Thank you for those who filled so many important roles in my absence, ensuring that everything would go as smoothly as if I had been here. My wife and I are away this Father's Day on a long-scheduled vacation to Missouri, and we covet your prayers as we get back into the swing of things in Zion, the city that has captured our hearts, and this church that has provided the best place of ministry any pastor could ever want. This year I have endured my first Mother's Day without mom's presence. And today is my first Father's Day without pop. If your folks are still alive, please don't miss the chance today – and every day – to let them know of your great love and appreciation for all they do and everything they mean to you. We are praying for you even as you gather for worship today and feel ourselves blessed above all expectation by your love and support. See you next Sunday!
